Dear Admiral Inman:

We have planned a meeting to be held in Washington, D.C. with Honeywell's senior corporate management and senior executive officers of our user community. The meeting will be held the afternoon and evening of May 7, 1981 at the Mayflower Hotel. I have enclosed an agenda for your information.

The purpose of this meeting will be to discuss Honeywell's current progress in the computer industry and to give you our views regarding the trends of the industry and our plans for the future. We also would like to hear your views on how we can better meet the needs of our users.

Our guest speaker will be Ted Withington, A. D. Little's leading computer consultant, who will give us his view of the future of the computer industry from the user's standpoint.

A member of our senior management team at the Federal Systems Operation will be contacting you shortly to determine your availability and answer any questions you may have.

I am looking forward to the meeting and believe that both the content and the participants will blend into a rewarding session. I sincerely hope that you will be able to join us.

Sincerely yours,
